HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS AND Hoofland's German Tonic. The Great Remedies for all Diseases of the LIVER, STOMACH, OR DIGESTIVE ORGANS. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS Is composed of the pure juices (or, as they are medicinally termed, Extracts,) of Roots, Herbs, and Barks, making a preparation, highly concentrated, and entirely free from alcoholic admixture of any kind. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC, Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public. Those preferring a Medicine free from Alchoholic admixture, will use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS. Those who have no objection to the combination of the bitters, as stated, will use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC. They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice between the two being a mere matter of taste, the Tonic being the most palatable. The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc., is very apt to have its functions deranged. The Liver, sympathizing as closely as it does with the stomach, then becomes affected, the result of which is that the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases: Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fulness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, etc., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil, and Great Depression of Spirits. The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his case, purchasing only that which he is assured from his investigation has real merit, and one which is entitled to such. The Proprietor of these Bitters and Tonic possesses more merit, is skillfully compounded, is free from injurious ingredients, and has established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases. In this connection we would submit those well known remedies— HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS AND HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC, Prepared by DR. C. M. JACKSON, PHILADELPHIA, PA. Twenty-two years since they were first introduced into this country from Germany, during which time they have undoubtedly performed more cures, and benefited suffering humanity to a greater extent, than any other remedies now known to the public. These remedies will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all Diseases arising from a disordered Liver, Stomach, or Intestines. DEBILITY, Resulting from any Cause whatever; PROSTRATION OF THE SYSTEM, induced by Severe Labor, Hardships, Exposure, Fevers, etc. There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tone and vigor is imparted to the whole system, the appetite is strengthened, food is enjoyed, the stomach digests promptly, the blood is purified, the complexion becomes sound and healthy, the yellow tinge is eradicated from the eyes, a bloom is given to the cheeks, and the weak and nervous invalid becomes a strong and healthy being. PERSONS ADVANCED IN LIFE, And feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find in the use of this LETTERS, or the TONIC, an elixir that will instill new life into their veins, restore in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shrunken forms and give health and happiness to their remaining years. NOTICE. It is a well established fact that fully one half of the female portion of our population are seldom in the enjoyment of good health, or, to use their own expression, never feel well; they are languid, devoid of all energy, extremely nervous, and have no appetite. To this class of persons the BITTERS, or the TONIC, is especially recommended. WEAK AND DELICATE CHILDREN, Are made strong by the use of either of these remedies. They will cure every case of MARASMUS, without fail. Thousands of certificates have accumulated in the hands of the proprietor, but space will allow of this publication of but a few. Those, it will be observed, are men of note and of such standing that they must be believed. TESTIMONIALS. HON. GEORGE W. WOODWARD, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pa., writes: Philadelphia, March 18, 1867. "I find 'Hoofland's German tonic, useful in diseases and of great benefit in cases of debility, and want of nervous action in the system. Yours, truly, GEO. W. WOODWARD." HON. JAMES THOMPSON, Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. Philadelphia, April 28, 1866. "I consider 'Hoofland's German Bitters' a valuable medicine in cases of attacks of indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my experience of it. Yours, with respect, JAMES THOMPSON." FROM REV. JOSEPH H. KENNARD, D. D., Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia. Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir: I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but with a clear conviction of its virtues in numerous instances and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that, for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail; but usually, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes. Yours, very respectfully, J. H. KENNARD, Eighth, below Coates St. FROM REV. E. D. FENDALL. Assistant Editor Christian Chronicle, Philadelphia. I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic, to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver. Yours truly, E. D. FENDALL. CAUTION. Hoofland's German Remedies are counterfeited. See that the signature of C. M. JACKSON is on the wrapper of each bottle. All others are counterfeits. AFFLICTION.

This plaintive song wrung from the heart of Thackery, when afflictions came upon him, might well be ours when suffering under bereavement:

So each shall mourn, in life's advance,
Dear hopes, dear friends untimely killed;
Shall grieve for many a forfeit chance
And longing passion unfulfilled.
Amen! Whatever fate be sent,
Pray God the heart may kindly glow,
Although the head with care be bent,
And whitened with the Winter snow.

Come wealth or want, come good or ill,
Let young and old accept their part;
And bow before the Awful Will,
And bear it with an honest heart.
Who misses or who wins the prize?
Go, lose, or conquer if you can;
But if you fail, or if you rise,
Be each, pray God, a gentleman!

A Thrilling Adventure.

"Father will have done the great chimney to-night, won't he, mother?" said little Tommy Howard, as he stood waiting for his father's breakfast, which he carried to him at his work every morning.

"He said that he hoped that all the scaffolding would be down to-night," answered the mother, "and that'll be a fine sight, for I never like the ending of those great chimneys, it is so risky for father to be last up."

"Oh! then, but I'll go and seek him and help 'em to give a shout before he comes down," said Tom.

"And," continued the mother, "if all goes on right, we are to have a frolic to-morrow, and go into the country, and take our dinner, and spend all the day long in the woods."

"Hurrah!" cried Tom, as he ran off to his father's place of work, with a can of milk in one hand and some bread in the other. His mother stood at the door, watching him as he went merrily whistling down the street, and she thought of the dear father he was going to, and the dangerous work he was engaged in; and her heart sought its safe refuge, and she prayed to God to protect and bless her treasure.

Tom with a light heart pursued his way to his father, and leaving him his breakfast, went to his own work, which was at some distance. In the evening, on his way home, he went around to see how his father was getting along.

James Howard, the father, and a number of other workmen, had been building one of those lofty chimneys which, in our manufacturing towns, almost supply the place of our architectural beauty. The chimney was of the highest and most tapering that had ever been erected, and as Tom shaded his eyes from the slanting rays of the setting sun, and looked up in search of his father, his heart sank within him at the appalling sight. The scaffolding was almost down—the men were removing the beams and poles. Tom's father stood alone at the top.

He then looked around to see that everything was right, and then waving his hat in the air, the men below answered him with a loud cheer, little Tom shouting as loud as any of them. As their voices died away, however, they heard a different sound, a cry of horror and alarm from above. The men looked around and coiled upon the ground lay the rope, which, before the scaffolding was removed, should have been fastened to the chimney, for Tom's father to come down by. The scaffolding had been removed without remembering to take up the rope. There was a dead silence. They all knew it was impossible to throw the rope up high enough to reach the top of the chimney, or even if possible, it would hardly be safe. They stood in silent dismay, unable to give any help or think of any means of safety.

And Tom's father? He walked around and round the circle, the dizzy height seeming more and more fearful, and the solid earth farther and farther from him. In the sudden panic he lost his presence of mind—his senses failed him. He shut his eyes; he felt as if the next moment he must be dashed to pieces on the ground below. The day passed as industriously as usually with Tom's mother at home. She was always busily employed for her husband or children in some way, and to-day she had been harder at work than usual, getting ready for the holiday to-morrow. She had just finished her arrangements, and her thoughts, were silently thanking God for the happy home and for all those blessings, when Tom ran in.

His face was as white as ashes, and he could hardly get the words out.

"Mother! mother! he cannot get down!"

"Who, lad—thy father?" asked his mother.

"They have forgotten to leave him the rope," answered Tom still scarcely able to speak.

The mother started up, horror-struck, and stood for a moment as if paralyzed, then pressed her hands over her face, as if to shut out the terrible picture, and breathing a prayer to God for help, rushed out of the house.

When she reached the place where her husband was at work, a crowd had gathered round the foot of the chimney, and stood quite helpless, gazing up with their faces full of sorrow.

"He says he'll throw himself down."

"Thee munna do that, lad," cried the wife with a hopeful voice; "thee munna do that—wait a bit. Take off thy stocking, lad, and unravel it, and let down the thread with a bit of mortar. Dost thou hear me, Jem?"

The man made a sign of assent, for it seemed as it he could not speak—and taking off his stocking, unravelled the worsted yarn, row after row. The people stood around in breathless silence and suspense, wondering what Tom's mother could be thinking of, and why she sent him in such haste for the carpenter's ball of twine.

"Let down one end of the thread with a bit of stone, and keep fast hold of the other," cried she to her husband. The little thread came waving down the tall chimney, blown hither and thither by the wind, but it reached the outstretched hands that were awaiting it. Tom held the ball of twine, while his mother tied one end of it to the thread.

"Now pull it slowly," cried she to her husband, and she gradually unwound the string until it reached her husband. "Now hold the string fast, and pull," cried she, and the string grew heavy and hard to pull, for Tom and his mother had fastened a thick rope to it. They watched it gradually and slowly uncoiling from the ground, as the string was drawn higher.

There was but one coil—it had reached the top. "Thank God!" exclaimed the wife. She hid her face in her hands in silent prayer, and trembling, rejoiced. The iron to which it should be fastened was there all right—but would her husband be able to make use of it? Would not the terror of the past have so unnerved him as to prevent him from taking the necessary measures for safety? She did not know the magical influence her few words had exercised over him.

She did not know the strength that the sound of her voice, so calm and steadfast, had filled him—as if the little thread had carried the hope of life once more, had conveyed to him some portion of that faith in God, which nothing ever destroyed or shook in her pure heart. She did not know that, as she waited there, the words came over him: "Why art thou cast down, O my soul, why art thou disquieted within me? hope thou in God." She lifted her heart to God for hope and strength, but could do nothing more for her husband, and her heart turned to God and rested upon him as upon a rock.

There was a great shout.

"He's safe, mother; he's safe!" cried Tom.

"Thou hast saved my life, my Mary," said the husband, folding her in his arms. "But what ails you? thou seemest more sorry than glad about it." But Mary could not speak, and if the strong arm of her husband had not held her up she would have fallen to the ground—the sudden joy, after such fear, had overcome her.

"Tom, let thy mother lean on thy shoulder," said his father, "and we will take her home." And in their happy home they poured forth their thanks to God for his great goodness, and their happy life together felt dearer and holier for the peril it had been in, and in the nearness of the danger that had brought them unto God. And the holiday next day—was it not indeed a thanksgiving day?

The Mystery of an Old Fort.

A letter writer, in describing Fort Marion, one of the defences of St. Augustine, Fla., gives the following story: Fort Marion has an old, solemn, and rather threatening warlike appearance. The outer wall, five feet thick, of the material called coquina (kokeina), found in great abundance on the beach, near the lighthouse, has quite a slant, or inclination inward, several degrees from a perpendicular. An inner wall, two and a half feet thick, standing perpendicular, keeps in position a bank of sand eight or ten feet thick between the outer and inner walls. Behind these walls are arranged the casements, strongly arched overhead, and extending all around the interior. Upon these arches and the walls a floor of brick, stone, and concrete is laid, whereon the heavy guns of the fort are placed; very few are in position now. Within the enclosure of the fort below are piles of cannon balls and quite a number of old Spanish guns, partly eaten by rust. In 1858, while pulling some heavy guns in position on the fort an arch gave way, making a hole some five feet wide, disclosing a cell hitherto unknown to any person living. In this new and strange apartment were found one or two gun carriages, made of mahogany, finely wrought. During the excavations made by the officers, one of them accidentally discovered the appearance of a doorway that had been masoned up. They determined to test the reality of the suggestion, and removing a few stones revealed an opening into another cell, where was found a bedstead, on which lay the skeleton of a man chained to a huge staple in the wall; beside the bed stood an open mahogany chest five feet long, two and a half feet wide, sides of plank two inches thick, mounted with huge iron strap hinges and three enormous locks. No clue has yet been found to the history of this case, or the offence of this terribly punished victim.

☞ A lively urchin accosted a traveling dealer on Market street, the other day, and cried, in and earnest voice: "Mr. ——, please give me an apple; my brother goes with your sister."—He'll do.

☞ Capital punishment in Arkansas—to be locked up two days with eleven pretty girls in a jury-box. Oh, my! who would ever find a verdict.

☞ An Irishman said, "No printer should publish a death unless informed of the fact by the party deceased."

☞ Virtue is its own reward.

Moving into New Houses.

That death frequently ensues after moving into a new house is unquestionably true, but examination will prove that it is due to the imprudence of the occupant in many cases. The most frequent cause of such an event is the state of the undried plastering. It is, however, sometimes occasioned by the entire change of habits, which follows what is frequently a decisive step upward in the career of the owner. Sand is used in constructing plaster for the simple reason that when the lime itself hardens there shall be a material dispersed through it as hard as itself. Water is the agent which produces this effect. When that is suddenly absorbed, from contact with porous bricks, or from exposure to powerful heats, or to drying winds, the necessary union is not formed, and the material, instead of being mortar, consists of slaked lime and dry sand. When the water is allowed to remain in the mixture the hardening process goes on, but proceeds slowly. A mason, examined as a witness in this city some years ago, testified that mortar in a thick wall was twenty or thirty years in acquiring its full solidity.—The process is somewhat like that by which nature converts certain minerals in the earth into stone.

When plaster is applied to laths it dries rapidly and thoroughly, but yet it is wholly unsafe to inhabit a dwelling only recently plastered. When a house is occupied too soon it is as if the walls consisted of water and the dampness were inhaled at every breath.—Very obstinate cases of sickness proceed from this cause.

When sleep is affected by damp walls sore throat or a cold follows in eight or ten days, attended with an extraordinary difficulty of recovery—The main cause, the dampness of the house, is a continuing cause of disease.

Many houses are now being constructed for occupancy this spring.—The assertion that they are thoroughly dried will unquestionably be made by persons having them for sale or to let; and although many of them will be stimulated by ambitious wives and husbands to move into them for the sake of losing no time in making appropriate display, it will be far wiser to wait for a whole year after a house is finished, and use in the winter furnaces, and in the summer drying winds, to render it safely habitable.

Although moving from a dry to a damp house ought to be regarded as a sufficient cause for serious ill-health, there are but few who perceive it, inasmuch as it is the interest of many persons to keep the true cause away from observation, in order that new houses may not remain on their hands unoccupied by tenants, and also that there may be patients needing to be cured. The condition in this respect of the house into which one designs moving cannot be too carefully weighed, or a new case may be furnished to aid the too popular conviction which ignorance so readily assigns in such cases as a cause of death if it occur.—Harper's Bazar.

☞ The Philadelphia Ledger publishes a much longer list of marriages and deaths than any other paper in that city. Many of the defunct personages are fond of poetical notices of a hopeful or mournful nature, and there are several quite remarkable verses which are popular for this sort of work. For instance, the line "gone but not forgotten" is as popular as it is absurd, for the subject of the notice is so recently gone and as yet unburied, so that even the worst memory would find it difficult, under the circumstances, to lose him. Here is a badly rhymed favorite:

To that bright land our Mamie's gone,
For Jesus bade her come;
He took her from this world of woe,
To live with Him at home.

The last line is forced to close this remarkable production:

Short was her suffering,
Hard was her pain,
No murmur escaped her,
None heard her complain,
May the sun shine brightly
And the rain fall lightly
On our little Sarah's grave.
Gone, but not forgotten.

And for all full grown men this peculiar little gem is the especial favorite. We have often seen it three or four times in the same paper:

None knew him but to love him
His strong spirit's fled
To the Lord above,
While his active limbs
Lie mouldering in the dust.

Funeral Thoughts.

Fellow mortals, what are the feelings which prompt you to attend funerals? Are you influenced merely by idle curiosity?—Did you go to sympathize with bereaved friends? Or was it to hear what the minister had to say on the occasion? It could not be through idle curiosity, for this is too solemn a place—sobs, tears, a shroud, a coffin, a grave. Oh! who could seek to while away time here? To sympathize with friends. This is right, your presence cheers in some degree, the mourning ones. For oh, how hard it is to see that dead one carried away from home, neglected. But this is humane. We should weep with those who weep; Jesus wept with Mary and Martha, and well you may weep. You knew him well; you walked, talked and enjoyed yourself with him, but you shall do so no more. The light is put out of his eye, his voice has lost its melodies and his beauty has faded and gone. Yes. weep, your tears become you, your sorrow is just. This tender overflowing of the soul humanity requires and reason well approves.

Here, too, contemplate your latter end.—Your present place is a favorable one for this. Let the shroud, the coffin, the grave, darkness, corruption, worms, dust and bones speak—these are sure to become your apparel, house, bed, cover, portion, companions, and end. Think of your breath failing, your throat rattling, your eyes growing dim; cold sweat gathering on your forehead and friends weeping. Think of all these as you hear the words, "earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust." ALPHA.

The Beauty of Forgiveness.

If there is anything which has power to bind the heart of man with a firm enduring affection, it is forgiveness, called forth by meek, sincere, unconditional repentance. Every one of us, however short our lives, and slight our experience, can perhaps remember, when having done injustice to some one near and dear, pardon has been implored, and forgiveness readily and affectionately granted; can remember, I say, the magic with which it sweeps away any lingering trace of alienated feelings, and bound with renewed strength every sentiment of regard and esteem. The faculty of forgiving and receiving forgiveness is one of the finest in human nature. It is the main point in every noble, every refined, and elevated character. Dark, sinister and intriguing man can never forgive, and the consciousness of being forgiven is sufficient to arouse their darkest passions. An illustration of this may be found in the Rashleigh Osbaldistone of Walter Scott when, in his dying moments, he calls his cousin and pours into his ear a torrent of impotent, scornful hate, and in the face, too, of kindly manifestations of forgiveness. That very manifestation, and superior in its manliness to his own malignity, caused him to realize his own worthlessness, and aggravated his hate.

If a man or woman wishes to live a peaceful, rational life, he or she must call forgiveness often into action; and will find it has the magic of a charm to allay all bitterness, reconcile all differences, dispel all those petty quarrels which so often embitter the intercourse of every good individual. It is the glorious element of God's government over man, the essential life-giving principle of the plan of redemption. It is the leading feature in Holy Writ, and finds an ardent, sincere response in the bosom of every high-minded man. It is the strongest link in the chain that binds the heart of every Christian to his Lord and Master. It is the consciousness of being forgiven that awakens all the nobler emotions of his soul, and rouses his dormant energies to active service in the cause of his Redeemer. Forgiveness from God or man lays an individual under obligations that to a sensitive, delicate mind are anything but unpleasant or humiliating. A certain degree of pride of character is far from being reprehensible—it gives force and dignity; but the pride that cannot ask forgiveness is obstinacy, is stubbornness, and the mind that will not melt and subdue, must be dead to all that is noble. Could the world at large be induced to enter upon the practice of forgiveness, alike whether it were sought or unsought, its use would soon be obviated, and the millenium dawn upon us in all its splendor and glory.

Let us, then, remember that as in the ocean the greatest commotion is produced by the action of some particles one upon another, so we, although insignificant members of an extended community, are constantly coming in contact one with another, and transmitting our thoughts, feelings, and opinions. And however our feelings may be injured, our characters assailed, our tempers vexed and tired, let us remember it is God-like to forgive.

And let us remember that, if destined for a better state of existence, where none but the higher, and more elevated faculties of our immortal nature will be called into action, that the cultivation they receive here, the better prepared we shall be to enter at once upon the enjoyment of their practice in futurity. Let us then, as far as possible discard all our conflicting propensities, everything that is debasing, and elevate our standard of moral and intellectual character, as far as can be, to that which must be ours when inhabitants, if ever, of realm of stintless purity and perfect bliss.

GOING HOME WITH THE GIRLS.—The entrance to society may be said to take place after boyhood has passed away, yet a multitude take the initiative before their hearts are presentable. It is a great trial to tender or tough age. For any overgrown boy to go to a door, knowing there are a dozen girls within and knock or ring with absolute certainty that in two minutes all their eyes will be upon him, is a severe test of courage. To go before these girls and make a satisfactory tour of the room without stepping on their toes, and then sit down and dispose of one's pockets is an achievement of which few can boast. If a boy can get so far as to measure off ten yards of tape and manage to cut it short at one end he may stand a pleasant chance to spend a pleasant evening; but let him not flatter the trials of the evening are over. There comes at last the breaking up. The dear girls don their hoods and put on their shawls, and look so saucy, so mischievous and impressible, as if they did not wish any one to go home with them. Then comes the pinch, and the boy having the most pluck makes up to the prettiest girl, his heart in his throat, and his tongue clinging to the roof of his mouth, and crooking his elbow, stammers out the words: "Shall I see you home?" She touches her finger to his arm, and thus they walk home about a foot apart, feeling as awkward as goslings. As soon as she is safe inside her own doors, he struts home and really thinks he has been and done it.—Erie Despatch.

The man who doesn't take a paper was in Indiana recently. The paper says he set his watch by a sign, wiped his nose on a bolt of calico hanging in front of a store, stopped at the National Bank to find out the price of coal, and paid twenty-five cents to a smart drug clerk for a Jayne's almanac.

The Globe.

HUNTINGDON, PA.

Wednesday morning, Mch. 24, 1869.

WM. LEWIS, HUGH LINDSAY, } EDITORS.

The "Globe" has the largest number of readers of any other paper published in the county. Advertisers should remember this.

To Our Friends and Patrons.

Until we give notice to the contrary, we will issue to all paying us money on subscription to Globe, advertising, job work and old store bills, chance checks for presents in our Enterprise. Now is the time to subscribe, advertise, have your bills, etc., printed, and for all indebted to us to pay up. We want everybody to have a chance for the beautiful and substantial Chamber Sett of thirteen pieces worth $25.

☞Robert M. Douglas, Esq., a son of the late Senator Stephen A. Douglas, has been appointed one of President Grant's private Secretaries.

☞The Hon. D. J. Morrell has been appointed Chairman of the Committee on Manufactures and is also on the Pacific Railroad Committee.

☞President Grant refuses to make appointments to office, except in cases of vacancy, until the tenure-of-office act is repealed. It will be "repealed" by "suspended" the present week.

☞Our columns are open to Republicans to discuss any party question they feel an interest in. We do not intend to force our opinions upon the party, but will be governed by the will of the majority and the party organization.

☞The President has approved and signed the bill for the further security of equal rights in the District of Columbia. This law removes altogether the distinctions heretofore existing between the whites and blacks as to civil rights.

☞The President has ordered the discontinuance of the military guard at the White House, which has been on duty for the last four years, and that hereafter the protection of the premises be in charge of the doorkeeper and three police officers.

☞Washington correspondents tell us that there are fifty applicants for every foreign mission within the gift of the President. For the Consulship at Frankfort on-the-Main, there are one hundred and fifty-four aspirants. Don't all speak at once, gentlemen.

☞The Republican members of the Senate are divided in their opinions as to the disposition that should be made of the tenure-of-office bill. Some favor repeal and others think it should only be suspended. The friends of repeal, feel confident of their ability to carry it through when a vote is taken.

☞President Grant was quite indisposed on Saturday, and no visitors were admitted to the White House. The incessant labors since his inauguration have been too much for him. He will find that an army of office hunters will be more difficult to manage than an army of Union soldiers.

☞Senator Sprague who favors the repeal of the tenure-of-office act declares "that the great evil in both houses of Congress was that too many of the members were lawyers—men educated only in one line, in one range of ideas and experience, and therefore incompetent to represent faithfully the divers interests and necessities of the great mass of the people."

☞Among the important movements now going on in the American Churches, the Lay Delegation movement in the Methodist Episcopal Church attracts special attention. The Methodist Episcopal Church, which is the most numerous Protestant body of the country, has thus far been noted for the exclusion of the laity from the legislative assemblies of the Church. In June, the whole membership of the Church, male and female, will vote on the question, whether the former policy shall be retained or whether the principle of lay delegations shall henceforth be accepted. We notice that mass meetings of the friends of the movement begin to be held in various parts of the country.

☞The ways and means committee paid an official visit to Secretary Boutwell the other day. After the usual courtesies had been exchanged, the Secretary informed the committee that he found affairs generally, in a pretty good condition. There was an abundance of money, and he indicated his determination not to keep a large amount on hand, and that he would use the surplus from time to time for the purchase and cancelation of bonds, claiming ample authority under existing legislation, to do so. He also stated that he was opposed to the recent sales of gold, and that whenever he had any for sale, it would be sold in open market, giving to everybody the same opportunity of buying. We are glad to learn that the stock-jobbing speculators will not manipulate the Treasury, as heretofore.

Lee's report of the Gettysburg battle is now published for the first time. It shows that Lee's purpose in his march into Pennsylvania was to cross the Susquehanna and move upon Harrisburg and Philadelphia.

The Tenure of Office Bill.

The Hon. John Scott delivered his maiden speech in the United States Senate, on Friday last, on the Tenure of Office bill. The Associated Press despatches give us but a meagre report of the speech, but enough is given to understand the position taken on the question by Mr. Scott. In his argument, he shows "that the power of removal from office is within the jurisdiction of Congress, and may be regulated by legislation. The Republican party was committed to that view by the tenure of office act, by the vote on the impeachment trial, and by its party platforms. He hoped, therefore, that the Senate would stand upon principle, and refuse to repeal the law; but he would vote for its suspension with proper qualifications and safeguards."

This first effort of Mr. Scott has elicited the highest praise from everybody fortunate enough to hear it, and the newspapers throughout the country pronounce it able, eloquent and "replete with pointed argument." The Philadelphia Press says that "Mr. Scott's speech was worthy of the interest manifested by his hearers, even if it had been the effort of an older member, for it was replete with pointed argument, and at times remarkable for the brilliancy of its rhetoric." The Pittsburg Commercial says that "Senator Scott's speech for suspension and against the repeal was one of the finest yet made in the discussion."

SECESSION.—There is in the hands of a member of the Legislature, and will probably be read in place the present week, a petition from the citizens of a portion of Springfield and Dublin townships, this county, praying to be annexed to Fulton county. We have seen the petition, examined the boundaries proposed, and find it to be the same as they presented to the Legislature in 1860. The reasons cited in the petition for the proposed change are, that whilst the citizens of that locality are forty miles from the county seat of Huntingdon, they are only fifteen miles from the county seat of Fulton, &c., &c. We sincerely trust that the measure will meet the fate of its predecessor, notwithstanding the desire of our Fulton county neighbors to get such a fat slice of our Republican territory.

New Bounty Law.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That when a soldier's discharge states that he is discharged by reason of "expiration of term of service," he shall be held to have completed the full term of his enlistment, and entitled to bounty accordingly.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the widow, minor children, or parents, in the order named, of any soldier who shall have died, after being honorably discharged from the military service of the United States, shall be entitled to receive the additional bounty to which such soldier would be entitled, if living, under the provisions of the twelfth and thirteenth sections of an act entitled "An act making appropriations for sundry civil expenses of the Government for the year ending June thirty, eighteen hundred and sixty-seven, and for other purposes," approved July twenty-eight, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, and the said provisions of said act shall be so construed.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That all claims for the additional bounties granted in sections 12 and 13 of the act of July 28, 1866, shall after the 1st day of May next, be adjusted and settled by the accounting officers of the Treasury, under the provisions of said act; and all such claims as may, on the 1st of May, be remaining in the office of the Paymaster General unsettled, shall be transferred to the Second Auditor of the Treasury for settlement.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That all claims for bounty under the provision of the act cited in the foregoing section, shall be void, unless presented in due form prior to the 1st day of December, 1869.

ANOTHER MYSTERY SOLVED.—Captain E. Godfrey Rehrer, of Tremont, Schuylkill county, who so mysteriously disappeared in November last, turns up as a Sergeant in the Marine Corps, at Washington. He was discovered by a Mr. Cole, of Tamaqua, on the 4th of March, while forming with his command, to take part in the inauguration ceremonies. He denied that he was himself when first accosted by Mr. Cole. He afterwards confessed that the motive for his decamping in the manner he had done, was the fact that he was heavily indebted to his father, father-in-law, and others, and that he saw no prospect of extricating himself from his pecuniary liabilities. He said that he first went to Treverton, where he worked as a laborer. From there he went to Baltimore, where he was employed in a similar occupation. One day, seeing in the streets of that city a citizen of Schuylkill county, Pa., he became fearful of being recognized, and left suddenly without even waiting to receive his wages. From Baltimore he went to Philadelphia, and enlisted in the Marine Corps, anticipating that he would soon be sent on shipboard to some foreign station. In this he was mistaken, for his command was sent to Washington, where it has since been stationed.

Botanical Survey of the State.

The need of a thorough, practical and scientific description of the indigenous and naturalized plants of Pennsylvania, has long been felt, both by men of science and by the whole agricultural community. Such surveys have been prepared and published by many of the States, while Pennsylvania seems to have entirely overlooked the matter. The State Agricultural Convention, which met here yesterday, had this subject under discussion, and unanimously passed a resolution urging the subject upon the immediate attention of the Legislature. It seems that some scientific gentleman have already made a complete survey of the State, and Professor T. C. Porter, a native of Huntingdon county, and one of the most distinguished naturalists of the country, has nearly completed an elaborate description of the entire flora, embracing the forest trees, the grasses, the weeds injurious to cultivated vegetation, and also observations on their geographical range and their economic value. This is the result of more than twenty-five years of learned labor on the part of this distinguished scholar, and he now offers the whole as a donation to his native State. The Philadelphia Academy of Natural Science, composed of the most distinguished savans in the country, recently passed a resolution urging the Legislature to accept and publish this work, and yesterday the practical men of our State, representing so largely its agricultural interests, also united in this request. We have no doubt it will be done. We are in favor of a wise economy in the public expenditure, but no more judicious appropriation could be made than to publish the results of such investigation gratuitously offered to the State, and which from their scientific character reflect honor on the community, while from their practical character they advance two material interests.—State Guard, 18th.

Brief Items.

"We had snow yesterday." So had everyone else hereabouts.

Every man's interest is consulted by encouraging his home trade.

Mr. Stein of Bellefonte was killed the other day by a tree falling upon him.

He who wastes his youth beggars himself for life. Young man, take warning.

Petroleum V. Nasby lectures in Hollidaysburg on Saturday next.

Lewistown is looking up in the building line. Not so in the railroad line.

There are twenty-two prisoners in the Clearfield jail. Bad place over there.

We caution our brethren of the press not to trust Dr. Witmor. He is a "fraud."

The next time "Broad Top" comes to town we hope he will make himself known to us.

The upper story of a house in Lewistown belonging to E. L. Benedict, was destroyed by fire.

A valuable white horse belonging to Mr. John H. Westbrook, of this place, died of colic on Saturday night last.

We hope the plan that many of our country friends pursue of smoking meat in their dwellings will be abolished.

McConnellsburg boasts of a man who is father of twenty-eight children, and has been four times married.

There is a proposition at headquarters to extend the borough limits to include Oneida township.

Hollidaysburg has 55 adult negroes that the Radical says will soon be voters. P'shaw. Huntingdon has 150, more or less, ditto.

A train of carts passed through Bedford the other week. It will be a long time, we think, before it will have a train of cars.

Easter will fall on the 28th inst. This is owing to the remarkable phenomenon that about that time March makes his egge hit.

The Temperance Vindicator of last week published the list of signers to a license of a Mapleton liquor dealer. Somebody's cross.

Hon. Charles R. Coburn, at one time State Superintendent of Common Schools, died at his residence in Bradford county, on the 8th inst.

The Bellefonte Watchman says, Guess all the glass-works we want is "a lager-bier glass." Perhaps one might be made to suit your taste, Bro. Furey.

A high mass of requiem for the Fenian martyrs, Allan, Larkins and O'Brien, was celebrated at the Catholic church in Dudley, on St. Patrick's day.

Joseph Diggins, of Carbon township, this county, who was the judge of both the elections last fall a year, which were pronounced illegal, has again been re elected.

We referred a few weeks ago to the murder of Rev. J. C. Clarke's two dogs, "Grant" and "Colfax" by some malicious individual. On the same night somebody poisoned Mr. Jas. Terry's dog named "Grant."

A showman tried to create a furore in Lewistown the other day by announcing his coming with written posters. He didn't succeed: Reason—he hadn't the blessing of the printer, without which who ought to prosper?

Hon. A. A. Barker, of Ebensburg, and Dr. J. H. Wintrode, of Marklesburg, are announced to address a temperance meeting at Williamsburg, Blair county, on the first Monday in April.

For all the interest that is manifested at a spring election in this borough we think it ought to be abolished. When mud is knee deep voters don't care to put themselves to much trouble to vote for anybody.

A number of our citizens went to Hollidaysburg to hear Gough. They didn't go off for nothing. The citizens of that place have an opportunity to return the compliment by hearing Talmage on Monday evening next.

The daily noon-day prayer meetings held in the room of the Y. M. C. A. of this place, have proved a great success, the average attendance last week being about twenty-five, including both sexes.

Our young friend Mr. Thomas Shriner, formerly of McConnellstown, paid us a visit on Saturday last. He has just graduated at Jefferson College in Philadelphia, and is now an "M. D." Success wherever you go.

The common schools of Tyrone have been discontinued for want of funds to carry them on. We would be sorry to see that place more benighted than it is at present. How about the whiskey-shops? Are they supported? We speak advisedly.

Blake & McNeil have purchased the interest in the Huntingdon Foundry owned by J. M. Cunningham & Son, and will be happy to receive orders, which we have no doubt will be executed promptly and in a workmanlike manner. Advertisement next week.

A fellow in Lewistown, a Democrat we suppose, had the self-denial to resign as clerk in one of the Departments at Washington, said resignation to take effect March 4th.—He imagined at that time he would have to go anyhow. Such sacrifice!

Johnny Swope, the pushing merchant, is determined to keep the ball rolling, and will accommodate his customers with anything in his stock of candies and notions at reasonable figures. Young America should be encouraged, and we are glad to add that he is.

A rich treat is promised us on Monday evening next, and we have no doubt we will receive it, and not us alone, but all who go and hear Rev. Talmage's lecture, "Our New House." Come and hear it. It will probably be the last and best of the season.

In York the other day a man named Thos. Cromwell, well up in his sixties, married a Mrs. Esther Oliver, over one hundred years of age. They were both of the colored persuasion, and singular to relate they never saw each other but once before their marriage. Love works darkly sometimes.

Rev. Thomas Barnhart moves to Tyrone this week where he has been stationed by the M. E. Conference, his term as presiding elder having expired. He has been a faithful servant in his Master's kingdom, and has made many friends in this place, who regret his departure.

We have received the first number of a beautiful magazine, entitled "Our Own," edited by Fannie Warner, and published by Gillis, McGuigan & Griffin, No. 701 Chestnut street, Philadelphia. It has a good corps of writers, and is in every respect a first-class magazine.

Our young friend W. O. Cunningham, son of Mr. Robert Cunningham, of this place, is with Hood, Bonbright & Co., wholesale dealers in Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods, 529 Market street, Philadelphia. Will is an accommodating and correct young man, and we have no doubt he will see that all who order goods through him will be satisfied with their bargains.

FIRE IN JUNIATA TOWNSHIP.

A GIRL BURNED TO DEATH.

The citizens of our town were considerably alarmed on Wednesday last by hearing of a fire that had occurred that morning between two and three o'clock at the residence of Mr. William Dean, a farmer, in Juniata township, a few miles south of town. It was ascertained that the fire originated from smoking meat in the fire place in one end of the house and soon communicated to the dwelling, in which the inmates, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Dean, and their two daughters, Kate and Martha, were sound asleep. The fire made rapid progress, and with difficulty, Mr. Dean and his wife, who slept below, escaped, while Kate and Martha, who slept up stairs, run through the flames to the door—Kate escaping in her night clothes, and being badly burned about the face, shoulders and hands in the attempt, while Martha succeeded but in getting to the door when it is supposed she was stifled with smoke and fell, and was consumed in the flames. She was the youngest of the family, aged about seventeen years Her sad death has stricken her parents and relatives with great sorrow, and our citizens deeply sympathize with them.

Mr. Dean lost everything, and he and his family are now staying with Mr. Harrison Speck, the nearest neighbor. The injuries which Kate received, though painful in the extreme, will not be fatal, but it is thought she will lose the use of her hands.

Interesting and Profitable.

Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, it will be seen by the announcement, published elsewhere, will deliver one of his popular lectures, in the Court House on Monday evening next, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Mr. Talmage is regarded as one of the most fascinating and popular lecturers in the United States, and the reputation he now enjoys as such in the cities east and west should alone be sufficient to assure him a crowded house. He has been for years well known to the literary world as an accomplished gentleman, of excellent and rare qualities, culture and ability, possessing a commanding power of eloquence, as an orator, which is rarely attained at the present day, and as a lecturer, unsurpassed in talent and brilliancy.

We trust that the citizens of this place will manifest their appreciation of a literary treat, by giving him a large and attentive audience on this occasion, and at the same time, avail themselves of the opportunity of contributing to an object so noble, so praiseworthy, and so commendable, as that of the Young Men's Christian Association, the very name of which is sufficient to commend it to the earnest consideration of the moralist, the philanthropist, and the Christian.

Mount Union Heard From.

We copy the following item from the last Mount Union News:

Through Tickets For Sale.—Through tickets via Penn'a. R. R., can henceforth be bought at Mount Union.

Mount Union is increasing in population and trade, and should have a telegraph office! We expect ere long that all the passenger trains will take on and leave off passengers at Mount Union. If we go to Church at Huntingdon, we must stay over night. Evil communication corrupt good morals and hence is the story of the man out of whom the evil one was cast is renewed every time we go to Church in that unhealthy locality. Will the D rectors of the P. R. R. Co., pity the misfortunes of the citizens of this vicinity and enable them to return home on Sundays.

We always like to see our neighbors prosper, but we can't see the justice of making the fact that "through tickets can be bought at Mt. Union," the cause for so much balderdash in regard to Huntingdon as the above item contains. If Mt Union has such a station as to afford its people a chance to buy through tickets, we think it ought to have churches to afford our cotemporary a proper channel for his "good morals," and not have them corrupted by coming all they way to this "unhealthy locality," as he chooses to call it, although it has its churches, and other Christian organizations. We are glad however, the "evil one" is cast out of him every time he comes to Huntingdon.

Representative Conferee Meeting.

On Friday last the 19th inst., Representative Conferees from Huntingdon, Mifflin and Juniata, met at this place and organized by calling Solomon Books to the chair and appointing D. R. P. Neely, Secretary.

On motion of H. C. Weaver the four delegates from Mifflin were permitted to take part in the proceedings.

The Conference then proceeded to elect delegates to the State Convention with the following result:

W. H. Woods, had 9 votes.

Another Fire.

We learn that the residence of Mrs. Chaney of Barree township, was totally destroyed by fire on Sunday a week ago. She was at church at the time, and it is not known how the fire originated. She lost about $400 in money.

Politics in Democratic Carbon.

"The whiskey ring forms a plan by which they can get a man for constable who will take no notice of them selling liquor on Sunday. If they find such a man they next select a number of rough, devil-may-care sort of fellows to go to the nomination, and 'cocked and primed' they vote unanimously for the proposed candidate. Now, having achieved their victory they wait the day of election, when the tide turns in another direction. As none but qualified voters will be allowed to vote, the whiskey ring has to work a new stratagem. Now the fun commences. There is no fun at a fall election or excitement either, when compared with a spring election. The whiskey ring works admirably With pockets full of money they pick out every ignorant dupe that they can seduce by whiskey, and if he would drink a gallon of whiskey he would get it so as to obtain his vote."

☞The New York Tribune says the reason why Plantation Bitters are so generally used is owing to the fact that they are always made up to the original standard, and of pure material, let the price be what it will. The Tribune just hit the nail on the head, for Plantation Bitters are not only made of pure material, but the people are told what they are made of, as the recipe is wrapped around each bottle. Don't go home without a bottle.

Bean Robbery.

Mrs. Drayton, a widow, residing on Mifflin street, in this borough, has for some weeks past been staying with a friend in the country, and during her absence she left her house unoccupied. Upon her return home she found that her bed clothes, and other articles, had been stolen. No clue has been found to the thief. We learn that some of the stolen goods were found under the Jail stable on Monday morning last.

☞Business promises to be brisk in town this spring. It could not have been much better at Enterprise Headquarters than it has been for three months—reason why, the people have discovered how to save money and yet live better than they could under the old fogy way of doing business.

Those of our subscribers who intend changing their residence on the coming first of April will oblige us by sending us timely notice where they want their papers directed to. Please state where you move from as well as where you move to. A little care in this respect will prevent mistake and save trouble.

In Memoriam.

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Allwise and Merciful God, to remove from our number, our highly esteemed and worthy brother of Belles Lettres, HENRY LARKINS, in the morning of his life. Therefore,

Resolved, That we bow in submission to this unexpected and sudden bereavement, knowing that God doeth all things well.

Resolved, That the Society feel deeply the loss of a faithful and efficient member, a kind and loving schoolmate and a valuable friend.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with the afflicted family now lamenting the loss of a son and brother; unite with them in their sorrowing, uphold them with our affections and invoke on them the blessing of Him who alone can give peace and consolation.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, that they be published in the paper of the county of which he was a resident, and also that a copy be entered on the record of the Belles Lettres Union Society.

What Makes a City Grow?

The Philadelphia Bulletin has a very suggestive article on the causes which make a city grow, and as most of its remarks are equally applicable to a town like Huntingdon, we commend them to the consideration of our citizens:

There are many causes that are beyond the control of the citizens, such as natural increase, advantages of situation, communication and production; but it is contended that the character which its inhabitants give to a city has vastly more to do with its growth than all other causes put together. In other words, the public spirit of the citizens determine the growth of the city. A city attracts population when from its many opportunities for instruction, rational amusements, and healthful recreation, it becomes a desirable place to live in. The more public improvements a city has the more certainly will it draw an increase of permanent residents.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

This is the most sickly period of the year but there is a remedy which is a constant protection against the causes of disease; it enters swiftly into the circulation of the blood, expels the morbific substance collected therein during the winter; corrects all morbid changes in the blood; regulates the supply and quality and equalizes the circulation of the blood; promotes the operations of the digestive organs; acts as a mild and efficacious stomachic; strengthens the nervous fibres and calms the nervous system; promotes buoyancy of spirits and feeling; revives the physical energies, and imparts vitality and elasticity to every organ of the human body. It is no less celebrated a preparation than MISELSHS HERB BITTERS. Use it now—use it regularly every day—and prepare your system for the change in the season, and fortify it against the dangers of disease. mar10bom.

Sitka is the place where the traveler either loses or gains one day in the week. A person going eastwardly around the world gains the day which is lost by the one who goes to the west, and Sitka is the point at which the two reckonings meet. The Russians who have journeyed toward it eastward through Siberia celebrate their accustomed Sabbath while the Californian, who has reached it by a westward journey across America, finds the shops shut and business suspended on his Saturday.

A little girl, not six years of age, screamed out to her little brother, who was playing in the mud: "Bob, you good-for-nothing rascal, come into the house this minute, or I'll beat you till the skin comes off." Angelina's childlike reply is a good commentary upon this manner of talking to children: "Why, mother, you see we were playing, and he's my little boy, and I'm scolding him just as you did me this morning."

"Can you tell me the road to Greenville?" asked a traveler of a boy whom he met on the road. "Yes sir," said the boy. "Do you see our barn down there?" "Yes," says he. "Go to that. You be mighty keerful, stranger, about going on that log—and then you go on, till you get to the brow of the hill, and there the roads prevaricate; and you take the left hand road, and keep that until you get into a big plum thicket; and when you get there, why then—then—then—" "What then?" Ayer's Hair Vigor,

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicines. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgements we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co. Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

And rendering it dark and glossy. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair. The use of this oil as a hair dresser has been universal in every section of the country in the Spanish Main for centuries.—So preparation of art could give that elegant luxuriance and abundance of hair which have so often been the admiration of travelers in Spain. This oil is highly and delicately perfumed, forming an article unrivaled in excellence and upon which the Spanish people for many years have set its seal of enduring approval.
